

Back by popular demand, Andrew Clark and Randy Wilson will perform at this year's Summerville Festival of the Arts. PHOTO: COURTESY OF GERRY TAYLOR

SUMMERVILLE FESTIVAL OF THE ARTS, AUG. 25, NOON - 5 P.M.

The artists, the musicians and the general public had a great time at last year's Summerville Art Festival, so they've decided to hold another this year. Come and see for yourself, everything from poetry reading to pop-up musical performances along the one mile stretch for one afternoon only, rain or shine.

Their website invites you to take the Summerville ferry to the Peninsula and enjoy an afternoon stroll – passing by 20 to 25 pop up galleries with potters, painters, sculptors ready to show you their work and discuss their process – during which you will be entertained by singers, musicians and maybe dancers set against an picturesque outdoor riverscape. There is no admission charge and no parking fees at the Summerville United Church parking lot.

Funds raised will be used to support the Summerville United Church restoration of their permanent collection.

Music acts include Sylvia Campbell and her new husband Phil, entertaining you with singing, picking, yodelling and fiddling; Richard and Heather Brown of Bloomfield with Joe Albert of Kingston; the Summerville Trio of Andrew Clark, Paul Roach and Randy Wilson back again this year by popular demand and Lawrence Wilson has just confirmed he will be playing with "Outlaw Country" along the one mile stretch of Route 845. Check the website **Summervilleartfestival.com** for updates

